

ANDES ARMCHAIR, DESIGNED BY: LUCA NICHETTO

Andes is a new interpretation of classically elegant salon furniture – bearing all the hallmarks of a great Viennese tradition. The individual elements in this family can be positioned to spectacular effect, as required, to present a new face to the world. With a virtually limitless number of combinations possible, Andes' personality adapts to its surroundings with countless individual configuration options.

Available in a choice of two heights, the delicate metal structure gives the organically shaped cushions the appearance of floating. Perfectly handcrafted, the lines traced out by the dual piping bear Wittmann's unmistakable signature. The seat provides a special feeling of gentle support thanks to the clever use of a high-quality pocket-spring core. In terms of coverings, a multiplicity of materials and colours create new and highly individualistic impressions – underscored by design details that only true handcraftsmanship can produce.

The wide variety of potential groups of sofas and other elements now also includes an elegant, finely proportioned chair that is a perfect match for the Andes range. Like its larger family members, the chair comes in two seat heights, as well as different coverings and frame materials.
